

Installing SongBeamer on a USB Stick

SongBeamer can be installed on a USB stick. An installation on a USB stick makes it possible to use SongBeamer on another PC without having to install SongBeamer on that PC first. Do not use a USB stick to share a license between multiple PCs.

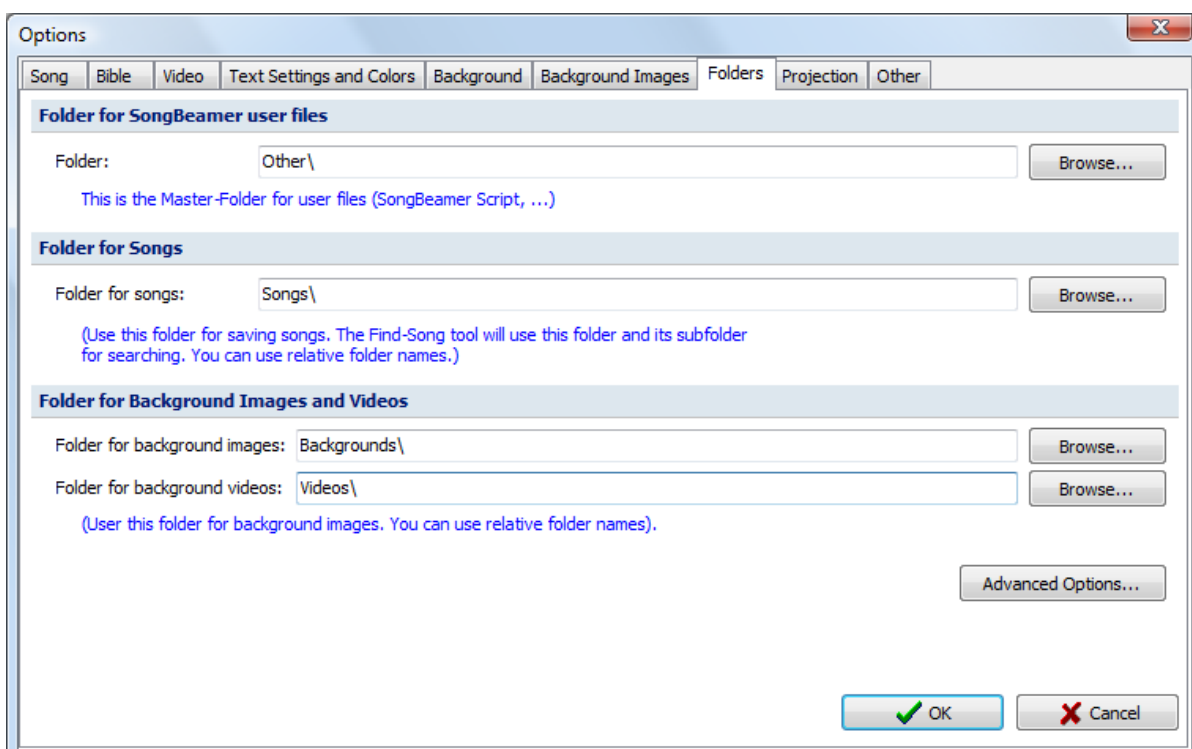

Installing SongBeamer

Run the setup and install it on a folder on your USB stick. Do not install SongBeamer in the root folder (always install to something like "K:\SongBeamer", not "K:\").

Modify the folders in SongBeamer

Modify the folders so that SongBeamer will search for your songs, ... on the USB stick. Open the tools menu and select "Options...":

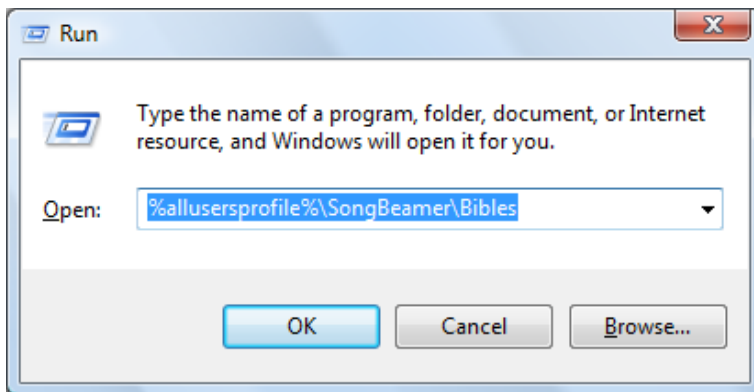

By default, SongBeamer saves the songs in the folder %My Documents%\SongBeamer\Songs“. The placeholder %My Documents% points to the folder “My Documents” on your hard disk.

The drive letter of your USB stick can change. So you need to enter folders that are relative to the installation folder. A possible folder for the songs could be “Songs\”. If SongBeamer is installed in the folder K:\SongBeamer, SongBeamer expects the songs in the folder K:\SongBeamer\Songs.

Copying bibles

Bibles will always be installed into the folder for global configuration data. You need to copy them to your USB stick if you want to have them available. Copy them into the folder „ProgramData\Bibles“ (i.e. „K:\SongBeamer\ProgramData\Bibles“, if SongBeamer is installed in the folder K:\SongBeamer).

Click on the start menu, then Run (or press Win+R on your keyboard), type %allusersprofile%\SongBeamer\Bibles, and click OK in order to open the folder for global configuration data.

Enter your license key

Do not forget to enter you license key. When you start SongBeamer it will search for your key on the hard disk and on your USB stick. If you already have a license on your PC, SongBeamer will use that, but if you run SongBeamer on another PC, it will run in demo mode only. If you enter your key while SongBeamer is running on a USB stick, it will save your license data on the stick, and run as full version everywhere.

You have received the instructions on how to register SongBeamer with your license key.
